Order Form - WTO negotiations: resurrecting the MAI?

The Australian government is taking part in negotiations in the World Trade Organisation (WTO) on the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) and on proposed new WTO agreements on investment, competition policy and government procurement. These proposals resurrect many of the negative features of the discredited draft Multilateral Agreement on Investment (MAI), which collapsed in 1998 after it was exposed by community debate.

These negotiations could reduce the ability of governments to provide and fund essential public services like health, education and water, and could remove the right of governments to limit level of foreign investment in strategic industries like the media, telecommunications or airlines, or to use government purchasing to help local development.

The publications explains the WTO process, how we can hold our government accountable and campaign against these outcomes, and for a trade framework which respects human rights and the environment.

10,000 copies have been funded by the Uniting Church 2% for Development Fund. We need to charge 23 ¢ per copy for bulk orders to cover the cost of printing more copies.

These prices are negotiable for small organisations. Please contact us to negotiate.
